WIFE WINS FINAL DECREE FROM LEVI L. DARDEN

Woman Tells Sensational Story of Alleged Jealousy of Spouse; Will Resume Maiden Name

Superior Judge Ellsworth closed a sensational divorce suit of Myra E. Smith Darden against Levi L. Darden, a former wealthy real estate dealer of Hayes, entering a final decree this forenoon in favor of the wife and restoring to her her maiden name. The property involved in the litigation was worth about $100,000 and the couple settled these interests out of court so that the financial relief that Mrs. Darden obtained in connection with her divorce was not made.

The couple were married in Eureka in June, 1905, Darden being a widower with one child at the time and engaged in the furniture business. His bride had been employed in the store as his stenographer.

ACCUSES WIFE

The testimony upon which Mrs. Darden won her case shows that in less than a month after the wedding Darden caused his wife of "receiving attentions from a strange man" and immediately set about to catch her with her alleged trifles. Among the parties of whom Darden was particularly suspicious according to the record was the grocer who called at the house for orders, and during one of his outbreaks over this man the husband said:

"You need not think I don't know what is going on. You have not been true to me. I will kill that white-headed brute and follow you and drag your name down into the mire where it belongs."

About October, 1906, the Dardens removed from Eureka to Hayward and they had hardly settled there before Darden, according to the testimony, accused his wife again of robbing him and began a "holdup."

One day Mrs. Darden told the court that while she and Darden were walking along Broadway in Oakland he suddenly became enraged at her and shouted this at her so loudly that passersby could hear every word.

Go and chase up some of the gentlemen friends you have been running after, go to the rooming houses you know about but leave me alone. I want to buy nothing more to do with you because I am afraid you will poison me.

JEALOUS OF PARALYTIC.

The homely one of the Dardens was sent to McHells, a summer resort in Humboldt county, and among the guests there was an old paralytic who requested Mrs. Darden one evening to fasten his glove on his withered hand which she did. This made Darden very angry said Mrs. Darden who told the court that he said to her "You can take that old fool and go on. I don't want you if you are going to hang around here."

A few days after this incident a physician and his family arrived at the resort and while at the table taking their meals the doctor extended to her the ordinary table courtesies. This is said to have aroused the jealousy of Darden and as they were leaving the table he said, "That big buck is trying to flirt with you. I will not stay with you another day if you are going to take up with that big lubber. I am fed up with making eyes at people already and trying to get down their throats, and I am going back to Eureka, you can stay as long as you please."

PHYSICIAN IN CASE.

Another man of whom Darden was extremely jealous, according to the testimony, was Dr. Ottmer of Eureka. He was called in one day to examine Mrs. Darden for appendicitis and after he left the house Darden stood upon his stock wife and exclaimed:

"You were smiling at the doctor and while he was making his examination you and he exchanged glances that meant a great deal more than I can."

But this was not a marker to the alleged row that Darden cracked up with his wife when the Rev. Franklin Baker, a Eureka minister, essayed to shake hands with Mrs. Darden one night after church service. Darden is said to have threatened to kill Baker if he did not let Mrs. Darden prevent him from doing so.

"You were smiling at the doctor and while he was making his examination you and he exchanged glances that meant a great deal more than I can."

THREATENS TO KILL.

"If I ever find that you are in my house I will kill her," Mr. Darden told the court. Darden said to her, "He never took his eyes off you during the entire service and I will beat him will bring the doorknob before the week is over. Let me find it out and I will fix you both."

One night the Dardens attended a theatrical performance in San Francisco and during the show Darden, according to the testimony, declared:

"Come on, we will go home. Some white-headed street car man is looking at you," and with that he dragged her out of the theater.

Shortly after this episode the couple separated.

STUDENTS WELCOME

LA FAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 13.—Another large crowd greeted Colonel Roosevelt when he arrived here. Students of Purdue University led the yell.

"Victory is in the air," said the Colonel. This is a contest against crooked politics and wicked business. Or, if I want to make clear to you, it is the old way to support Senator Borodige is to support the men on the legislative floor with him.

Referring to Senator Faveridge's attitude in relation to the Pay or Aldrich bill which the Senator voted a radish, Colonel Roosevelt said:

"The Senator did not pull from his party, he merely stood by the bulk of the parts."

Gillett Issues Call for Pacific Coast Congress

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—At a meeting of the Merchant Marine League today Governor Gillett sent the following explanatory call for a Pacific Coast congress:

"The honor of your presence is requested as a guest of a Pacific Coast Congress to be held in San Francisco November 17 to 19 inclusive 1910 under the auspices of the Merchant Marine League of California and the commercial organization of California to discuss the urgency of merchant marine legislation and the maintenance of a strong battleship fleet on the Pacific Coast, the permanent of which have been pledged by members of the Merchant Marine League.

This call is to be supplemented by a statement setting forth in detail the object of the congress, the expenses which have been pledged by members of the Merchant Marine League.

The enthusiasm displayed by the clubwomen under the leadership of Mrs. Cora F. Jones has made the women's postcard day an unqualified success. All yesterday and this morning the committee was kept busy answering the telephone sending out the cards and doing all in its power to show its loyalty in the cause.

If the Panama Pacific exposition does not take place in San Francisco it will not be the fault of the women's committee of Oakland.

Several Eastern visitors called yesterday at headquarters and were delighted to receive the postals free of charge promising to send them to their friends.

GRATIFIED AT LOYALTY.

The women who are handling the postcard campaign are very much gratified at the loyalty shown them by the business houses of Oakland. The demand for the cards was so great that a requisition was made on San Francisco headquarters for 25,000 additional.

Men of the large concerns have taken thousands of cards for distribution among their employees. The Old Bank of Savings stamped 1000 of the cards and gave them to its office staff to send to their eastern friends. Other business houses have done the same thing.

The women's committee will have a booth and branch postoffice at the plaza tomorrow night. The following committee will be in charge:

—Mrs. M. L. Broadwell, Mrs. W. B. Smith, Mrs. R. D. Holmes, Mrs. F. N. Davis and Miss Bessie Broadwell.

WOMAN JAILED FOR TRYING TO MURDER

She Made Attempt to Kill Millionaire Founder of Goldfield.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—Miss Julia Ward, the young authoress, who last night invaded the home of Al D. Myers, millionaire miner and founder of Goldfield, Nev., at Long Beach and drew a revolver on him when he refused to marry her was still held in the county jail in this city today following her arrest last night. Miss Gibson is charged with assault with a deadly weapon and her bail is fixed at $8000. This she has not been able to furnish to date.

Miss Gibson filed a $50,000 breach of promise suit against Myers some months ago. Today she spoke bitterly of Myers' treatment of her. "I admit," said she, "that I went to Mr. Myers' residence, accompanied by my father and demanded that he marry me. I took the marriage license with me and my father is a minister. It was not a matter of money with me. I have tried since last October to get him to do the right thing. Last night my father talked with him fifteen or twenty minutes in a gentle manner, but both of us were roused out of the house."

The marriage license which Miss Gibson carried gave her age as 27 and that of Myers 40.

FILED FROM ROOM.

It had not yet been made known what attitude Myers will take in the prosecution of Miss Gibson. Last night he fled precipitately from the room at his home in Long Beach, drawing his revolver and threatening his wife.

Myers' servants telephoned the police and when they arrived they found Miss Gibson and her father an elderly man of 60 still in the Myers home. The young woman surrendered her weapon and accompanied an officer to jail.

She declared that she had no desire to make Myers live with her but that she had learned that he had intended to marry another woman and that she had determined to compel him to right his alleged wrongs to her. After her arrest Miss Gibson broke down and became hysterical. Today in her cell she wept bitterly.

JEALOUS MAN WOULD KILL EX-SPOUSE

Brandishes Blade and Revolver at Pursuers After Wounding Woman.

the Southern Pacific railroad company in this city.

An examination of the injury showed that it would not result fatally. Later in the day the victim was placed under anæsthetics and when she is able to undergo the treatment a number of stitches will be taken to close the ghastly wound.

CAUSES EXCITEMENT.

The murderous attack caused a great deal of excitement in the neighborhood, many of the neighbors asserting that the assailant ought to be lynched. The victim was sympathized with and voluntary offers of relief came from people in the homes adjoining that of the Scotts.

Miss Scott was too badly injured to be interviewed this morning, the management of the hospital deciding that she was to be seen by no person save her mother. From the latter was obtained the story of the victim regarding the assault.

"This morning," said Mrs. Scott, "Etta left just in time to catch the 7 o'clock train on the Twenty-second-street Key Route for San Francisco, where she works for the Southern Pacific. I do not know in which department she is engaged. She works under a lady named Miss Houghton, who has a number of clerks under her direction. Shortly after she left the house I heard the most piercing screams. I recognized the voice as that of my daughter and I had some misgivings that something awful had happened to her, because I knew Kelley was causing her trouble.

"I was just about to go down stairs to see what happened when a woman brought Etta to the steps leading to the door of the house. I saw that Etta was covered with blood and that she was still bleeding.

"A few nights ago, while my daughter was in company with a young man named Doyle, Kelley threatened her while she was passing the headquarters building to the traction company, where he was hiding in the shadows of the wall."

SHE HAS SWEETHEART.

For some time, it seems that Miss Scott has received attentions from D. Harrison Doyle, who is engaged in business in San Francisco. It has been his custom to meet her on occasions, and return to Oakland with her. It has also been his habit to meet her at Jones and Grove streets in the morning on her way to work and ride with her across the bay. It was while Doyle was waiting at that corner that he witnessed the attempt to murder the woman to whom he has been so attentive.

Kelley is not unknown to the police for the reason that, on the 25th of last month, he was arrested at Eighth and Washington streets by Officer Dolan on the dual charge of being drunk and carrying a concealed weapon. He served a sentence of eight days in the city prison.

D. Harrison Doyle telephoned to Captain of Detectives Petersen about noon today that he would swear to a complaint against Doyle tomorrow and that the case would be prosecuted.

ACCUSES FORMER WIFE.

That he had attempted to cut his former wife's throat because she called him a fool name was the explanation given this morning by Kelley, when seen at the City Prison. He will be charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, and pending the filing of the complaint, is being held in custody.

The man shows a brutal indifference concerning his murderous attempt upon the woman who was formerly his wife, telling in lame sentences the story of his attack upon the woman. He has expressed no regret, but seemed interested in the fact that he had cut her near the jawbone, and yet lower in the throat, where the deep, slashing wound would have proved fatal.

"I live at the Central House, 374 Third street, San Francisco. Yesterday afternoon I wandered about the streets for hours, and about 4 o'clock I had several drinks. I did not go to bed all night. This morning I went to 560 A. Jones street in this city to see Etta Scott, my ex-wife.

ASKED FOR PICTURES.

"I knew her habits and so I waited a few doors away for her to come out. I asked her for some pictures and she said she had them but they were not for me, said they didn't belong to me. Then I called her a liar, and she called me a dirty name."

"I got crazy mad, and I pulled my razor out of my pocket with my left hand, took it out of the case with my right hand, and ripped it into her neck. I think I caught her on the left side below the jawbone, but I am not sure."

"I started to run down the street, and some men followed me calling 'Stop thief!' A man came out and tried to stop me, and I whipped out my revolver and told him to stand back. Then some other men tried to stop me, and I told them they would have to get an officer. At Grove and Hobert streets three men got me and knocked me down and wouldn't let me up till I was arrested."

MAID IN AEROPLANE FLIES OVER AUDIENCE

AILEEN HARVEY in "Rained In" at the Bell.

Now that aerial navigation is the rage of the world, it has become an important item in enterainment. A number of experiments have been attempted in the development of an aeroplane to make it in flying flights, and Professor Burleigh has invented a biplane that can be manipulated by a woman within the confines of an ordinary theater building. The atmosphere buggy-like, everything else that is high flying and up and out, was seen at the recent Los Angeles championship meets being demonstrated at the Bell theater this week at every performance.

A fair maiden drives this biplane, which is a perfect miniature model of sufficient carrying capacity to hold her and all she skins and dips about the auditorium. Daring enough to be within reach of the audience, she merrily sings the while the act is without question an absolute novelty and is creating a great deal of favorable comment.

Le Roy and Harver are the natural headliners of the bill in as clever and entertaining a little sketch as has come this way.

There is a quality musical number by the Hughes Musical Trio, all female instrumentalists. Selections are rendered on the concertina, saxophone, cello and violin, and prove particularly agreeable to those who appreciate high class music. Miss Olive is a dainty little French miss who essays and accomplishes some wonderfuluggling tricks.

Wolfe Gilbert is a combination of an author, singer and entertainer. He has a strong personality and his songs and sayings are replete with sparkling logic and brilliant humor.

Bailey and Bailey entertain ten minutes with some good singing and dancing, and the show closes with extra fine motion pictures on the Bellscope.

Root For Chief Justice.

In a semi-official way it is given out that President Taft will appoint Elihu Root Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court in case the Republicans carry New York in the coming State election. Doubtless this means that Root will be appointed if a Legislature is elected that will choose a Republican to succeed him in the Senate. There is no earthly reason why his appointment should be dependent on the election of a Republican Governor.

Doubtless, also, the election outcome in Ohio, Indiana, New Jersey, Nevada and Missouri has a bearing on the appointment of Root. A Democrat is certain to succeed Warner in Missouri, and if the next New York Legislature is Democratic Chauncey Depew will be succeeded by a Bourbon. Should Root resign to go on the Supreme bench the same Legislature would give him a Democratic successor. In Maine a Democrat will succeed Senator Hale, and in Ohio a Democrat may take the toga now worn by Senator Dick. Beveridge is having a desperate fight in Indiana to succeed himself, and in Nevada Senator Nixon may be displaced for a Democrat. Even in Massachusetts Senator Lodge has to fight to retain his seat.

Under these conditions President Taft is not disposed to weaken the Republican party in the Senate. Root is one of the foremost Republicans in that body, and is regarded as a leader of the administration forces in the Senate. His retirement following that of Hale, Aldrich and Burrows would deprive the Republicans of much of the potentiality they have wielded in the Senate of late years. A considerable accession of Democratic strength in the upper chamber might render the retention of Root in the Senate a party necessity, especially as such Republican Senators as La Follette, Cummins, Dolliver, Bristow and Bourne are anti-administration, more or less; least they cannot be depended on to hold up the President's hands.

Elihu Root is one of the great lawyers of America, standing at the head of the bar in the Empire State and regarded in every section of the country as a master of jurisprudence. But his appointment to the Chief Justiceship would provoke some unfavorable criticism because in the practice of the law he has acted as attorney for some of the largest financial interests in the country. However, all the distinguished lawyers in the land have been counsel for corporations, for the corporations seek the best legal talent and pay the biggest fees. Therefore it is a testimonial to ability and learning for a lawyer to be employed by big corporations. But Senator Root is a man of honor, and on the bench would devote the powers of a great mind and a trained intellect to the service of the people. He would make a great judge, and we doubt not would do his full duty to the people.

Cyrus Crum of Poughkeepsie, New York, is a candidate for re-election as county clerk although he is 86 years old. He has held the office continuously for 54 years. He is a Democrat. Crum is a living proof that office-holders never resign and hardly ever die.

The Sacramento Union says the Southern Pacific is planning to run its through passenger trains in San Francisco by way of the Dumbarton cutoff, leaving Oakland to one side. We have heard that before. There is nothing in it, in our opinion. The Southern Pacific cannot afford to leave a community of fully 250,000 people off its main line. It would be an act of folly to do so, and that corporation is not usually guilty of acts of folly against its own interests. Moreover, the Santa Fe and the Western Pacific are in Oakland, and they would profit enormously in case the Southern Pacific should cease to run its through passenger trains into this city. They would gain business at the expense of the Southern Pacific, which would not make gains in any other quarter to compensate for the loss. The notion that the Southern Pacific has any intention to cut Oakland off its through runs is not founded on reason or definite information, and in our opinion is purely chimerical. No railroad can put Oakland off the map and we don't believe any railroad will be foolish enough to try.

That Paris dancer is getting a vast amount of free advertising from her alleged connection with the dethroned King of Portugal. His fondness for her was one of the causes of popular discontent. She was a foreigner as well as an expensive luxury, for the taxpayers, who finally concluded that graft under a republic was preferable to royal debauchery.

In nearly every county of California the expense of maintaining the County Clerk's office exceeds the revenue. That is because the County Clerks are required to do a great deal of gratuitous work for litigants and other private parties. This places a burden of expense on the taxpayers and subjects the County Clerks to unjust criticism. If fees were exacted for all services the Clerk's office would become entirely self-sustaining if not sources of profit to the several county governments. An effort will be made when the Legislature assembles to have an act passed requiring the payment of fees for all services not of a purely public character. In our opinion this is a commendable move. It will take an expense off the taxpayers and place it where it belongs — on the shoulder of those who have the services performed.

The defeat of Senator Burrows in the primaries did not prevent the Michigan Republican State Convention from endorsing President Taft and the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas and California are out of line with the Republican party throughout the country.

"General" Jacob S. Coxey is out with a statement that the "policies" which Bryan says Theodore Roosevelt stole from him were originally lifted from Coxey by Bryan. He says they are Coxey's policies. That settles it. We know now what is the matter with them.

Judge Melvin's friends are trying to him all over the State. The covert plotting to defeat him has roused them to activity and resentment, and they are so numerous and widely dispersed that they are able to make themselves felt in every community in the State. They are beginning to make the Rowell machine leaders understand that he must be given fair play and a square deal.

It is pure humbug to assert that no man in public life can be sincere and honestly-minded unless he personally abuses William F. Herrin and William R. Hearst, and keeps on abusing them. Herrin is in Europe and Hearst is in New York. So far as we can see neither is taking an active hand in the campaign now being waged in California. Why the result of the election should depend upon who rails at them longest and loudest is not explainable on any reasonable hypothesis. Besides, hard words butter no parsnips, and there are questions of State policy which should be discussed. The cost and character of administration are matters of grave importance to the people. Hurting and hating at Herrin and Hearst does not enlighten the public as to how the State institutions should be reorganized, what reforms are necessary and what measures should be adopted to increase the efficiency and decrease the cost of government. Nor is anything accomplished by perpetually denouncing in a personal way the railroad lawyer and the New York editor. That sort of thing quickly surfeits, and, besides, is futile if practical result.

MARRIED WOMEN AS TEACHERS

The theory of the president of Tufts College that all women teachers in girls' colleges should be married runs counter to accepted traditions of female education, which in this country at least is mainly in the hands of unmarried women. The discrimination, where any as existed, has been against married teachers. The small proportion of the latter is shown by the census of 1890, which gave the number of "unmarried women teachers and college professors" as 191,643, against 9168 married and 3776 widows.

The greater number of these, of course, were teachers in the lower grades, whose influence, Dr. Hamilton says, is counteracted by the pupil's home life. But at college the relation of teacher and pupil changes. The girl students removed from home associations live a more academic life. They are passing into womanhood and their outlook should be broader. Dr. Hamilton thinks, that which "contact with elderly unmarried women" can give. Unmarried teachers, do not create the right "atmosphere" for girls at the formative period of their lives. They face "problems new to them" and need a "large outlook and broad viewpoint."

Dr. Hamilton's argument is based on reasons which deserve consideration, but the question is a broad one, embracing us it does not only college but convent education. Much depends on the woman, regardless of her matrimonial status. There has been a theory that girls brought up by maiden aunts have been most competently trained. —New York World.

HOW HAPPINESS COMES

Happiness comes to us all, or to nearly all of us, in fragments. Nobody can arrange for a whole month's happiness in advance. We may have happier moments in the eleven months than in the one. They may come at a jolly dinner party, in the exchange of confidence with a friend, in a good "right and left" when shooting, in a clean smite to square-leg, in a couplet of verse or a single page of a book or the sight of a well fitting sail close hauled. But promised joys are the most elusive. He who would sit down to enjoy the sunset, to hear the wind sing in the grass or surge pastfully through trees, to listen to the song of birds or the cries of sea fowl in a marsh or the notes of church bells rising from a valley—he who would do these things to reach happiness will find (certainly if he be alone) that his mood turns to melancholy. —London Spectator

WHY THEY ATTEND

A few interesting statistics were gathered recently among the 1,400 girls of Goucher College as to their reasons for coming to college. Among forty new students twenty were taking up higher education to fit themselves for teaching as a life work. The other twenty had varied reasons, some amusing and others interesting. As one freshman put it: "I'm here to get acquainted with the East. The West, its ways and its climate I used to, so I want to try out the East, see the new people, different methods of education and the wonderful cities and buildings I've heard tell of." As an afterthought, she added, "Of course, to get a splendid education, too."

Nine others had come to college or relatives had either preceded them or were still at college and could make the way easier. Six "freshies" were enthusiastic over the novel starts, the new friends and the interesting courses that college had in store for them, and declared their chief reason a desire for "college experience."

Five more said that the unusual opportunity of pursuing musical courses at Peabody Institute and a college course at Goucher had strongly appealed to them and influenced their coming. "The proximity of two such institutions was remarkable and a rare advantage," one added. In the last conversation a Western girl, who formerly had been at a college in a city town, said that she was trying a city college to have the opportunity of accessible and well equipped libraries. SPEED MANIAC'S HARVEST

The fearful accident yesterday on the McKinley trolley system, following within a few weeks a similar occurrence in Indiana, suggests once more that thousands of people in America are going to their deaths every year because of a species of speed madness.

It is not the fault of the traction companies that their first claim upon public patronage is that they have "cut down the time" from point to point. The public demands speed, and the swiftest train is the favored one.

That this demand is largely a matter of temperament can not be denied. From individuals to nations, so it seems, that an hour or a day make a great deal of difference in their plans. People who are often found trying to "kill time" in the most trivial ways are more than likely to be the people who are not to be persuaded to travel leisurely.

The enjoyments of placid riding, of observation, of taking quiet counsel with one's self amid a passing panorama of beauty—these are almost unknown to Americans, and the young, boyish time "do you get there?" is the prevailing question on the lips of the traveling public.—St. Louis Times.

AVIATION FINANCIAL LOSSES

The international aviation meeting held recently at Lanark, Scotland, is reported to be a financial failure to the extent of about $40,000. This aerial carnival took place under excellent aeronautic weather conditions, and upward of 200,000 people paid admission to view same.

As the Scottish meeting, with its financial loss of $40,000, was one of the most successful meetings from every point of view held in Britain or the Continent this year, it is not likely that further meetings will be held in this country on a similar or so extensive a scale. Few of the airmen (only those who win the principal prizes) make much money out of these competitions, and many of them are out of pocket at the close of the meeting.

The loss to British and Continental promoters of the chief aviation meetings this year is estimated at about $375,000, distributed as follows: Lanark $10,000, Bournemouth $30,000, Farnborough $75,000, Rheims $100,000 and Nice $100,000. The only result of value which these aerial flights have produced in return for so great an expenditure is the great popular interest aroused in the science.—Consular Reports.

UNCLE SAM'S BALANCE SHEET

September was the first month of the present fiscal year which showed a balance for Uncle Sam on the right side of the account. In July and August the government expended more than it received. In September there was a surplus of $1,464,000 over all disbursements, but if the payments for the Panama canal were omitted the excess of receipts would be $3,456,000. For the first quarter of the fiscal year the treasury deficit is, in round figures, $16,000,000. This shows that that economy program, which the President emphasized at the recent meeting of the cabinet in Washington, can give real reasons for being here. Usually October is a month of heavy payments by the government, it would not be surprising therefore, if the $16,000,000 deficit should be increased somewhat in the next four weeks. This would be a bad showing on the eve of the election, but it cannot be remedied now. The President and the Republican leaders are apparently determined to keep the appropriations down the coming short session, and thus render it probable that the surplus will return in the fiscal year which begins next July. In a rapidly growing country like the United States the legitimate expenditures of its government must continue to increase. The President is aware of this. All that he aims at is to exert waste, and to head off any outlay except that which will contribute to the efficiency of the active branches of the public service.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

WHEN JACK CAME ASHORE

A sad idea we get of sailors ashore in the old days. With a wife in every port, drunk from the joys of his landing, shipped again by a clipper in debt for the very slops he wore. He were in the mercantile marine; trapped by a press-gang or wheedled by a sharp recruiting officer if he were wanted for the navy. Jack had refuge from his enemies only at sea, and from cruelty and abuse not even there. Fog and the lash went together.

Thousands of sailors from the American Navy have for some days been ashore in New York. So it is of them have recalled poor Jack of old by disgracing their uniform in saloons but these were generally the older men. Most of the sailors were young fellows raised on Western farms; sober, bright-faced, keen-eyed, as men must be who handle complex machinery and trains and big guns. They have more use for parks, museums and the Zoo than for saloons; they buy reams of picture post-cards and send money home.

The typical man-of-war sailor is a clear-cut farm or village lad who ships for an education, either to rise in the service by hard work and good behavior or to enjoy the best kind of training for success ashore as a machinist, contractor, builder or in other callings where sturdy men are dealt with at first hand.

The change in the navy itself is scarcely greater than that in those who man it.—New York World.

TAKES HIS FLING AT ILLINOIS 'JACKPOTTERS'

Attacks Lawmakers Involved in Legislative Scandal in Vigorous Speech.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 13.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt commended the Roman Catholic faith in his speech here last night at a dinner given by the Knights of Columbus. It was Colonel Roosevelt's first public utterance to Roman Catholics since the San Francisco incident last spring. He said that he favored the broad measure of religious toleration.

In a brief speech to the crowd at the railway station in Springfield, Colonel Roosevelt made what was construed as a reference to the allegations of corruption in the Illinois legislature. It was Colonel Roosevelt's first public utterance to Roman Catholics since the San Francisco incident last spring. He said that he favored the broad measure of religious toleration.

Chairman Fred G. Sanborn of the county committee will open the meeting. A. J. Wallace of Los Angeles, candidate for lieutenant governor, will deliver a short address before hastening to Oakland, where he will be the principal speaker at a big mass meeting. The principal and concluding speech will be that by Hiram W. Johnson.

LUNCHEON A SUCCESS.

More than 500 of the most active business men of the city were seated in the banquet room of the Palace Hotel at noon today at a luncheon at which Johnson was the guest. The Republican candidate was greeted with cheers as he entered the room, and again as he arose to speak on principles and the progress of his campaign.

The luncheon was a success beyond the dreams of its organizers.

JOHNSON SPECIAL.

The Republican state central committee working with the county committee in Sacramento, Glenn, Colusa and Yolo counties, has complete arrangements for a popular excursion through those counties with Hiram W. Johnson next Monday.

The excursion program provides for a special train to run from Sacramento to Willows, returning via Woodland, Maxwell, Colusa Junction, Williams, Dunnigan and Zephyr. The speech making will be concluded at Auburn, Newcastle and Lincoln, at each of which towns halls had been decorated in honor of his coming.

ANSWERS BELL.

ROSEVILLE, Oct. 13.—Declaring that he was busy in San Francisco four years ago, when he said, the city needed the help of every one in clearing it from graft, Hiram Johnson last night answered Theodore Bell's repeated question as to where he had been when the Bourbon standard-bearer was waging a war upon railroad influence.

"In the utterances of my distinguished opponent I have been asked why my voice was not raised in his behalf four years ago," he said. "When he was going about the state denouncing the influence of the railroad on our government. Four years ago we were confronted in the city from which I came by an organized band of men which trafficked in public office, public rights, emoluments and all that people hold dear. Some of us who were anxious to see decent government restored and maintained were up day and night to unraveling that situation and formulating the fight to take our government from this band that had debauched it, and now in that fight, I may ask, where was that distinguished gentleman who asks where I was four years ago? I was there in San Francisco to be present at the mass meeting at Dreamland rink in the evening.

HACKETT GIVES 'BEAUCAIRES' MASTER TOUCH OF REALISM

Tarkington Hero Comes to Life on Stage
Popular Actor Effaces Himself in His Character

(By LEO LEVY.)

Hackett's "Beauchaire" is like the bouquet of a good cigar—rich, rare and lasting. You have smoked them, those cigars, we mean, and then gone back again and again for another. Just so, you can't get enough of James K. Hackett and his Monsieur Beauchaire. The lovely "daredevil" as portrayed by the player is a memory that you cannot efface, and one that you will take the opportunity of refreshing whenever the occasion offers itself.

An enthusiastic crowd greeted Hackett at the Macdonough Theater last night. There were friends who know the actor, and friends who know only his work, but they were friends just the same, and applauded vigorously and long.

CALLED BEFORE CURTAIN.

They applauded until Beauchaire came before the curtain and thanked them as Beauchaire; and Hackett threw off his character and bowed to them as Hackett. It was a clever curtain speech, cleverly put. The mutinier is noted for many of the same kind, but there was a little more of his heart in that he made last night. Hackett is leaving the coast after a triumph that has been unequalled but seldom in his career, and he feels the parting just as much as he admitted.

Hackett lives in romanticism. He is a part of the days of chivalry, breathes it, talks it, acts it. It fits him like Beau Nash's clothes. He makes of the puppet something that goes on record as true a stage picture as has been painted. "Monsieur Beauchaire" signs out of Tarkington's book, surveys people and surroundings and goes on living a real creature when Hackett essayed the role.

STORY WELL KNOWN.

The story of "Monsieur Beauchaire" is too well known to all who run and read to bear repetition here. How a prince of France, to escape an obnoxious marriage, planned by his cousin the king, leaves his native shores disguised as a barber; how he wins the heart of his lady, at Bath; is denounced as a barber and an interloper; fights his dues barber and an interloper; fights his dues with wit and sword, and wine; how final-

GATES LEADS WAR ON STANDARD OIL

Financier Controls Texas Oil Fields; Battle to Be Open.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—In control of the leading oil fields in Texas, John W. Gates, head of the Texas company, has begun an open warfare against John D. Rockefeller's Standard Oil market. The Texas company has established 33 stations in the east, and before January 1 will open a general distributing station in Brooklyn, from which oil will be sold at a price considerably below that asked by the Standard Oil Company.

The Texas company has an office at 11 Broadway, and an entire floor at 12 Broadway, from which the operation of the new oil corporation will be directed. Besides the oil wells in Texas, the company will draw on vast oil fields in Oklahoma where pipe lines are being laid to pump oil to the seaboard.

With plans for the combat against Standard Oil completed, John W. Gates and his son returned to New York from Texas last week.

FOIL FOR HIS ART.

Hackett has gathered around him a company that is a good foil for his own excellence. Miss Beatrice Beale, essayed Lady Mary Carlisle last night, and though her lines were few in comparison, she never failed the star in his best scenes. Arthur Hopkins, as the Duke of Winterstet, too, was as pleasant a villain as ever planned a hero's downfall. Captain Molyneux was in the capable hands of Pryce Jackman and was ever at the side of his friend Beauchaire in times of need. Charles Crowbridge was an acceptable Raikell, as was Henry Reyes as Captain Bagger and Robert Lawler as Beau Nash. Mistress Lucy Rollerton lived in the very little person of Miss Olle Cooper and Mrs. Mabsley in Miss Laura Hudson.

The settings and the costumes, new and fresh, are a delight to the eye. Beauchaire's apartments and Lady Rollerton's boudoir were the same you pictured in your mind's eye when Monsieur Beauchaire lived only between the covers of a book.

FORGOTTEN III PUPPET.

Hackett is completely forgotten in Beauchaire, and it is the actor's splendid ability to efface himself that makes of the character something more than a puppet. It is easy to conceive that the man loses his identity even in his own eyes and mind. Else, here is no way to account for the remarkable evenness of the piano on which he works. Speech, action and mannerism are ever Beauchaire's and never Hackett's.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" will be told tonight, with Hackett in the role of Rudolph the Fifth. Here again is a character that comes to life from the pages of a story book. That will be a thing of flesh and blood is an assurance.

There are scores of Oaklanders who have seen the star in the Hope play; there are some who have not. They will all see him tonite, some for the first time; others, again. Hackett is a habit, and a mighty good one.

REFORM MOVEMENT
IS BRINGING RESULTS

Law Hitting Gamesters Put Into Effect and Prize Fighting Is on the Run.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 13.—Intensely interesting in its theme and delivery was the lecture on "Good Red Blood" given by Rev. Charles L. Mears, former pastor of the First Congregational Church of Reno, now pastor of the Alameda Congregational Church, before the Unitarian Club last night. Depicting the scenes in Reno during the Jeffries-Johnson fight, Rev. Mears dwelt upon the conditions existing for a week prior to the battle and a week after the contest.

NEW WORDS COINED.

He introduced his subject by saying: "The late tragedy in Reno added many words and phrases to modern English and drew attention to many new and unusual expressions. Among the most popular were 'Abysmal brute,' the hope of the white race and 'good red blood.' It was the last phrase especially that seemed to bring a goodly share of the human family and led men to come from the ends of the earth to help save the race, the receipts for Tex Rickard and company.

As a few extracts gathered at random from the discourse give an idea of its quality:

"Colorado gamblers came to Reno and made its gambling halls notorious. A lawyer trained by Abe Hummel in New York commercialized the game of poker and roulette, until men and women began to visit Reno by carloads, singing 'I am on my way to Reno.'

Granville Rose, an ex-con from Pennsylvania and Nat Goodwin, a New Yorker, desiring another wife brought Nevada mining stocks into dispute and temporarily blocked the movement of the highest mineralized territory on the continent. The representatives of the white and colored races, one a saloon-keeper of Los Angeles, the other a Texas presented Nevada with the publicity o-

last July.

GAMBLING IN DISREPUTE.

Nevada laws have not been the means of corrupting Nevada people, in fact, it is most uncommon for Nevada people to seek divorce, but the number of divorces against men outside the state have called for stricter laws in Nevada, the first of which was the anti-gambling law which went into effect the 1st of October and undoubtedly will be followed this winter by laws affecting divorce and prize fighting.

"When I took up my work in Reno was at the time that the Palace gambling house was opened, social women, the governor of the state and prominent citizens participated in the brilliant opening. Several years later when the gambling business was most prosperous, the discovery of Tompah and Goldfield was bringing men to the state with their money and same was being spent in Montana, Washington, Oregon and Arizona making the gambler an outlaw.

GAMBLERS CLAIM CREDIT.

"The gamblers claimed that they were the cause of Nevada's new prosperity and when the pastor of the First Congregational Church of Reno associated with a group of good citizens, proposed a law to raise the license on gambling to a gambler against the rest of the congregation, pretending that his withdrawal it would put the church out of business.

"At one time it was thought that the gamblers had about 200 members and a much larger group depending upon them for support. It was argued that if the Reno gamblers did not take the money and prospective sheepishness of the others, this could not be done. Other gamblers had held up to me the calamity which might come when the thousands of electric lights were extinguished on one night, and the lights melted away before the facts of a large police force, the amount of electric power to take care of the results of a 200 open state where it received a dollar a license.

IN HURRY BOTH WAYS.

"The experiences of a number in Reno with divorces being presented with their maiden names so rapidly that it is possible to learn the name of a young girl especially if he is conscientious. During the last month a wealthy man from the east who had been doing only ten days in the city, had a number of men to perform the ceremony uniting him with a woman just divorced by the Reno courts. When refused he had his hands of gold as his offering. Only a few weeks ago he was anxious to get married that they applied for a marriage license before the decree had been granted.

"My first experience was in起草ing. I was asked to be ready for a ceremony at 7 o'clock. I asked for the circumstances and was told that the divorce decree would be ready when the couple got married. All arrangements had been made to have a marriage license issued at 6:30 that the couple would leave on the 7th train and the newspaper would be unable to publish the news of the wedding when he refused. I asked them if it blamed me and they said they did not.

BERKELEY, Oct. 13.—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Berkeley Young Men's Christian Association does not intend to allow the men to outdo them in the work of furnishing the new Y. M. C. A. building.

While the men are engaged in the work of securing funds for laying furniture, the women are holding sewing bees where the needles fly in their preparation of sofa pillows, sheets and other articles for the dormitory.

An active session was held yesterday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Louis Engler, president of the auxiliary, and a large amount of work was accomplished. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy in December.

His "Two Brass Bands" Made

Writes Preliminary.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Oct. 13.—The committee last night announced the winners of the contest for the best farce and curtain raiser, M. L. Dinkelpiel, '12, being the successful author of the former and C. N. Hackett, '12, of the latter. The decision had been delayed several days on account of the absence of Garnet Holmes who is to coach both productions.

The winning farce, "Two Brass Bands" or "A Day at the Fair," by Dinkelpiel, has three acts and is to contain twenty-three characters. College life is the ordinary theme of the plot and the piece is considered one of the best ever submitted in a junior farce contest.

The curtain raiser by Hackett is entitled "The Neophyte," and deals with woman suffrage.

Dinkelpiel is an Oakland youth, registered in the College of Commerce. He resides at 178 East Mingo avenue.

The winner of the farce contest is well known in college journalism and was class president in his sophomore year.

Hackett, also an Oaklander, in the College of Letters, is an associate editor on the Occident, and vice-president of the junior class.

Eight farce and curtain raisers in all were submitted in the contest. Preliminary tryouts for parts in the casts of both pieces will be held Monday. The plays will be produced at the Liberty Theater in Oakland on Junior day, November 25.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 13.—Women employees of the Southern Pacific Company became alarmed yesterday when an order in the form of a circular was issued from headquarters of the company, stating that all station agents, ticket agents and other employees of the company must in the future wear uniforms, composed of blue cap, coat and trousers, with brass buttons.

The femininity in the ticket offices in this city raised a howl of protest, and a sudden strike was imminent when communication with headquarters elicited the information that the order referred only to men, and that the women employees could still continue to don their frills and furbelows in the early morning.

The order also calls for badges which will be worn by all of the employees of the company. That the cost of the badge will be addressed to the committee in charge to act as patrollers.

The California freshman rugby squad of twenty-one members was given light practice on the Stanford field yesterday by Coaches Schaeffer and Clegg, despite the inclement weather. The turf field is expected to be in good condition Saturday, even should the storm continue.

Enormous officials will be in evidence in the Southern Pacific offices and on all trains within the next few weeks.

The honorary commercial commissioners of Japan, who visited the United States last year at the invitation of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific coast, and who were received at the University of California, have written to President Wheeler, expressing their appreciation of the cordial reception extended to them here. At a special meeting of the committee held at Tokio a unanimous vote of thanks to the university was passed.

M'CREDIE, WITHOUT A LEG TO STAND ON, IS CRYING FRAUD IN HETLING DECISION

BEAVER MAGNATES IN A RAGE
BECAUSE JUDGE DID RIGHTHetting Matter Stirs Up Awful Tempest in the Teacup; McCredies Will Appeal;
Gossip of the Ballfield

By BERT LOWRY.

The one big topic of conversation among the fans yesterday was the decision of Judge Graham allowing the protests of Manager Harry Wolverton of Oakland against the playing of Gus Hetling by the Portland management. Some of the faithful who have picked Portland to win the pennant of the Coast League were loud in their denunciations of the judge and set up that old cry about "California favoritism," but the fair-minded fans that are for clean baseball agreed that the Judge followed out the true letter of the law governing the question and rendered his decision accordingly.

Not because the writer is an Oakland fan, but because he could see no other decision rendered is why he upholds the judge. When the protest was first filed the writer delved into the rules of baseball and found that Hetling was under contract to Spokane. Then the old rule about players not being in the territory of the Coast League before September 15 was looked into. Both these convinced the writer that McCredie had violated the rules of baseball, and on that stand THE TRIBUNE demanded that those fans be awarded to Oakland. To McCredie's excuse that he did not know Hetling was with the Spokane team the writer got conclusive proof from Harry Logan of Vernon that McCredie had offered Hetling to him either by sale or trade, showing that McCredie was trying to dispose of the player.

While it is deplorable in the interest of baseball that these things come up, it is but right that Oakland be awarded those games. Harry Wolverton is a man of the world and "I did not file my protest because I knew those games would put Oakland in the lead, but for the reason that I knew that the fans would be satisfied to be told that I could have played Matson, and also Jim Wiggs, but I knew that the rules of baseball would not allow me, and I therefore lived up to those rules."

M'CREDIE IS THREATENING DIRE REVENGE

From the north comes the wail that the south is trying to job McCredie out of the pennant and that Judge Graham rendered a decision which would not be in the interest of the fans. All this talk is pure buncombe and unfair to the judge. McCredie knew that Hetling was an ineligible player. His old boy friend, he tried to get away with a little Bill Burns stuff and was slipped in the bad. Here is the way the judge and Nepech Walker ruled in the Hetling case.

First to appeal from the decision of Judge Graham to the Pacific Coast League directorate and if overruled, as they expect to be, to appeal to the national commission, is the plan of the McCredies in the Hetling case.

"I have not had time to study over the text of President Graham's findings," Rep. Charles E. Smith, of the 13th, said, "but from what I have learned of it, he seems to place the entire blame on Portland. The Oaks are in a bad way. I do not care, but the Oaks had lots of hard luck also, and for that would be far away in front for the race for the bunting."

There seems to be a little mix-up in the latest news from Wolverton, president of the Oaks. The games of September 28, 29 and 30 are awarded to Oakland, but the Oaks won one of those, anyway. The Judge evidently did not see the game of September 28, so little scratch of the pen will make things all right again.

By winning two from the Angels the Oaks are now three points behind the Oaks. "This makes no never minds," says the genial Harry. "We are on our way now and nothing can stop us. All we want is little good weather."

Do you notice that Charley Graham is playing Perry for all he is worth in Vicksburg? He is a pain in the neck up north. We are not saying much about somebody helping the Beavers win the pennant, but Lord! we are thinking in that instance, as I believe will be the case, I shall take the matter before the national commission. If ruled against me, I will be firmly convinced that there is no justice in baseball in that case."

YOUNG WALTER HAS SOMETHING IN THE TEACUP.

After the Uncle had made his life speech, Nepech Walker put him in a tight box. "I am the iron hand in the bull. Here is what he had to say."

"You can quote me as saying," said Walker, "that I think the game is a wash, and, in order to let Portland out of the pennant in order that Oakland may win, and, also, I think the Coast League has crooked all the way through. The game has been rescored, and it will continue to do until the present officials a."

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—Brother Brown broke up one of the prettiest scenes of the season in Lemonville at the same time when he smashed a clean single to center in the eleventh inning of the sensational show at the clubhouses, scoring Roy Graham from third base, the last run of the afternoon. The Hooligans pounced on the visitors before the latter had their eyes open in the morning game, with a well-organized and liberal score of 10 to 3. Willett outpitched Arrellanes in the afternoon so far as the number of hits allowed went, but the Bostonians gave up only one run in the first three occasions during the long struggle. He pitched himself out of tight holes at times when it appeared that nothing short of a miracle could keep the Hooligans from scoring.

Two long rows of ciphers decorated the blackboard when Roy Brashear started the final assault upon Arrellanes in the eleventh inning, and down the field Hesp bounded the ball into Arrellanes' hands and beat the throw to fist. Frank hesitating a second or so before deciding that he had to pitch for him to hit to Arrellanes, forcing Hesp at second, Lindsay fouled to Danzle and it looked as though the Sacramento pitcher would be the victor. But the score was 10 to 3. Brown brought his big club against the ball, driving it straight into center, and Brashear galloped up the line and crossed the rubber, and the game was over.

INVESTIGATION on the practices of the northern magnates, the president of the league has to say: "I rendered my decision in line with the duty that was plainly before me, and I expected that if McCredie would appeal, he would be overruled." He is to meet the Hooligans tomorrow.

"Those California robbers us of Shinn, Carson and Pyle on three separate occasions, and I have never seen from Oakland earlier in the season. They always rob. MISTAKE DELAYS MARKET STREET SEWER

Contractor Admits He Made
Error and Offers to Reimburse City.

WORKS BOARD MUST READVERTISE FOR BIDS

Funds Appropriated to Extend Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph System.

On the showing of J. E. Greaney, who was awarded the contract for the construction of a sewer on Market street, between Second and Seventh streets, that he had made a mistake in his figures in making his bid, the Board of Works this morning decided to readvertise for bids on the work. Greaney agreed to pay the cost of advertising and to pay whatever damages the city might sustain as a result of his mistake.

Greaney bid $5500 for the work, the next lowest bid being about $644. Greaney stated that his figures should have been $6500, but that a mistake in addition had caused him to place his figures at $5500. He stated that if the board were to hold him to the exact terms of the contract, he would suffer a loss.

IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED.

Ellis and Simpson were granted permission to move a house, and Taft & Pernoyer were granted leave to erect two marques in front of their place of business.

The application of Cal Acker for appointment as inspector on the way was filed and Clarence Scheffield, who applied for the position of inspector on the water pipe system was approved.

The protest against the laundry at 70 East Fourteenth street was denied. It was decided to ask the city council for an appropriation of $1000 a month to pay for the removal of a wash tub in the rear of the City Hall.

The bid for the casting of the pedestals for the fire alarm and police telegraph boxes was awarded to the United Iron Works and a resolution was passed asking the city council for an appropriation of $2000 to pay for the first cost of the pedestals.

The Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, after hearing a protest from the West Oakland club, over the granting of a permit to hold a boxing exhibition on October 28 to the Oakland Wheelmen Athletic club, put the matter over for discussion at a meeting to be held tomorrow.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—The discussion of changing the name of the denomination to the Holy Catholic was voted to be postponed before the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church today.

It was expected that the matter would come before the house through the report of the committee on the title page of the prayer book scheduled to make its report.

CLUB TO ENDORSE
NEW FRANCHISE

Seventh Street People and the Southern Pacific Company
Reach Agreement.

The Seventh Street Improvement Club will hold a meeting tonight at 1144 Seventh street for the purpose of endorsing the fifty-year franchises on Seventh street, which they hope to see granted to the Southern Pacific Company. It is expected that every property-owner on Seventh street will be present to sign a giant petition which is to be circulated.

G. L. Yeager, president of the improvement club, in issuing the call for the meeting made the following statement:

"The Southern Pacific Company has come to terms with the Seventh Street Improvement Club, and we agreed to put an asphalt pavement along the entire length of Seventh street, and put ornate curbs on both sides of the street from Fallon street to the bay, provided that they receive a franchise for fifty years.

These are the exact terms which the Seventh Street Improvement Club asked for and they are now doing all they can to help the Southern Pacific Company to get the franchise. They will request the company to grant the company the franchise for as long as they expect any opposition. We ask that all property owners attend the meeting tonight and sign the petition."

TRI-CITY ROTARY CLUB
HOLDS WEEKLY DINNER

The regular weekly dinner of the Tri-City Rotary Club was given this afternoon at the Key Route Inn and was attended by about thirty business and professional men of this city. The management of the hotel had prepared an excellent spread, and the meal was greatly enjoyed by all the guests.

The feature under discussion was "Clean Cities, a Clean State, a Clean Nation," the moderator being Miss Beatrice McColl. The lady had evidently given the subject a great deal of study, for the reason that she not only showed familiarity with it but at the same time advanced practical ideas which could be easily put into practice with comparatively little expense and which would tend greatly to the advancement of any community adopting them.

A number of the guests also spoke on the subject, commenting also on the merit of the theme.

ORMEROD'S TRIAL BEGINS. George ("Dutch") Ormerod, well known in West Oakland as a former light weight pugilist, was placed on trial this afternoon before Superior Judge Waste on the charge of robbery. He is accused of having held up W. K. Brooks during a drunken brawl. A jury was seated and the introduction of testimony for the people began this afternoon.

ELMHURST, Oct. 13.—The remains of little 12-year-old Ivan Stramer, who died on the night of September 29, as a result of eating candy upon which grains of arsenic had been deposited through the carelessness of the storekeeper, were cremated yesterday afternoon in the Oakland crematory. The ashes will be sent to Pueblo, Colo., the former home of the Stramers, for interment. The funeral today was attended by the class-mates of the boy.

ELKHORN, Lawrence, the prize, 18 years old, was led before Justice of the Peace Roman here at 10 o'clock by Landon Burge, 21 years old, the soldier who has kept up a field of fire against the bandit gang for four long years since last November, and the justice of the peace performed the ceremony.

The trial of the soldiers and the soldiers' wives, when Miss Lawrence decided that the uniform of a soldier was more to be desired than an ordinary suit of a driver of a team, was adjourned.

They, together with others of the jurors, testified that they had no prejudice against the physician by reason of his failing to testify before them prior to the finding of the indictment against him.

Further hearing on the motion to set aside was continued until October 15.
